Acknowledgement of Country

“Narrabri Shire Council acknowledges Traditional Owners of Country throughout Australia. We recognise the continuing connection to lands, waters, and communities of people of the Gamilaraay/Gamilaroi/Gomeroi/Kamilaroi Nation, and pay respect to their Elders past, present, and emerging.”

Narrabri Shire Council acknowledges the various spellings of ‘Gamilaraay, Gamilaroi, Gomeroi, and Kamilaroi’ as valid and interchangeable, guided by the Shire’s Local Aboriginal Land Councils.

The Narrabri Shire has a rich history of culture. Council endeavours to unite the Community in preserving the unique heritage, celebrating community strengths and diversities, and achieving social justice by redressing past wrongs through Aboriginal Reconciliation.

Council recognises the valuable contribution to the Narrabri Shire made by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and looks forward to a future of mutual respect and harmony.”

Draft for Public Exhibition

Introduction

Community Engagement in a Local Government context describes the activities that support the interactive relationships between Council and its stakeholders (ratepayers, residents, service providers, business owners, workers, and visitors).

Community engagement activities can range from simple information sharing and promotion of activities through to encouraging debate and voting on public consensus on local issues and projects. Community engagement enables Council to continually build and strengthen its ties with stakeholders and raise a more positive collaborative culture with constituents. Community engagement supports the local democratic processes by encouraging an interest in local issues and keeping people well-informed on local and regional issues. It fosters a greater understanding within the community of the roles of Council and how they can be involved in shaping their community.

The success, effectiveness and community ownership of Council lead plans such as the Community Strategic Plan relies on effective community engagement. In particular, the way that information on issues, impacts and possible solutions are presented to the community.

The Community Engagement Strategy will guide when and how Council engages with its stakeholders for all aspects of core business, including:

- Developing key strategies and plans, such as the Community Strategic Plan which guides the development of Council's Delivery Program and Operational Plans;
- Development activities that Council is the Planning Authority for (see Appendix 4: Narrabri Shire Community Participation Plan) and
- Developing project plans for Council's Capital Works Program.

Background and Integration

This Community Engagement Strategy outlines how Council will conduct all engagement with the community throughout all aspects of operations. The Community Engagement Strategy will also outline engagement to be undertaken to develop the next Community Strategic Plan (see Appendix 3: Engagement Strategy for the Community Strategic Plan) for the Narrabri Shire, as well as additional plans and strategies thereafter.

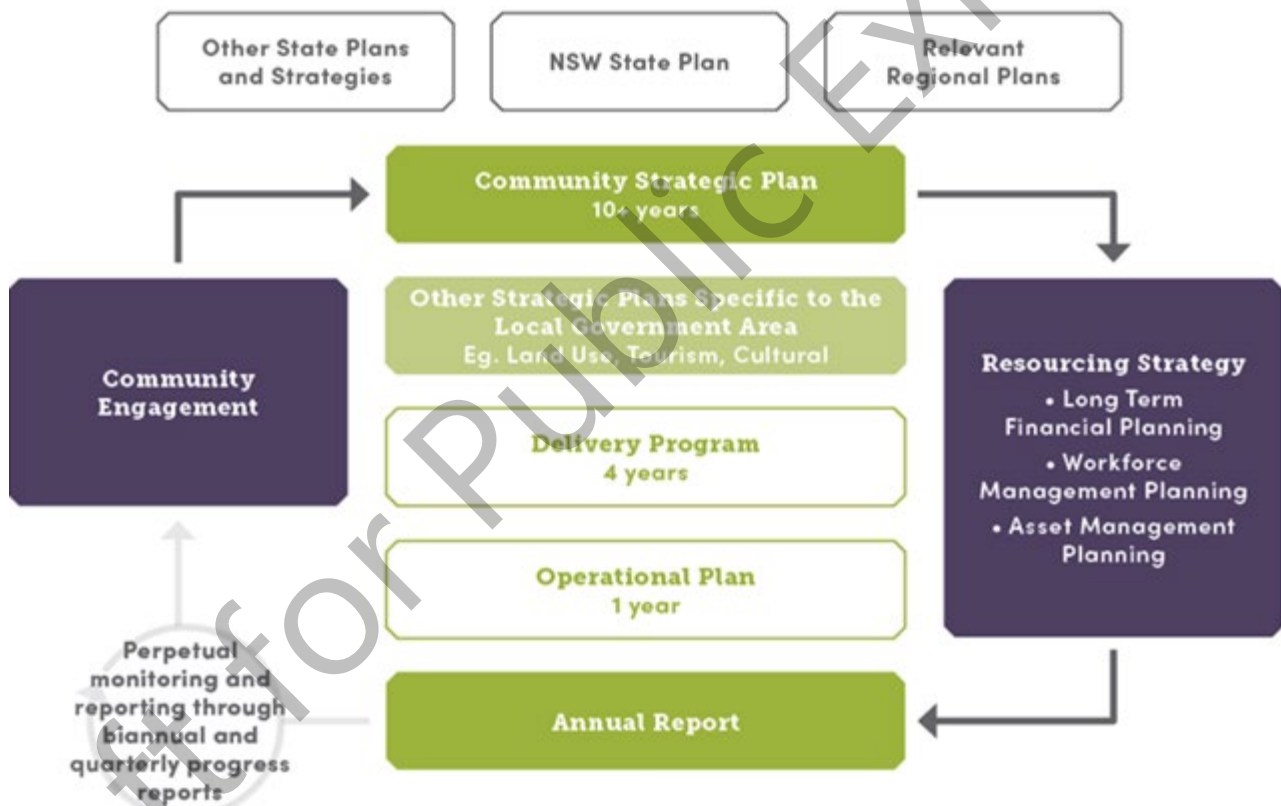

For all engagement requirements legislated under the Environment Planning and Assessment Act 1979 (NSW), Appendix 4: Narrabri Shire Community Participation Plan is to be used.

In 2009 the NSW Government introduced a new integrated planning and reporting framework for NSW Local Government. This was imbedded into the Local Government Act of 1993 (NSW). These reforms replaced the former Management Plan and Social Plan with an integrated framework. It also included a new requirement for a new long-term Community Strategic Plan setting out the community's vision over a longer period.

The Community Strategic Plan outlines the community's long-term vision for the future over a period of 10 years. This document is the foundation document that feeds into Council's Integrated Planning and Reporting. Additional documents in this suite include:

- Delivery Program - What Council will do over a four-year Council term to work towards the vision set out in the Community Strategic Plan.
- Annual Operational Plan - What Council will do in the current financial year including Council's Budget and Revenue Policy.
- Resourcing Strategy - What resources are available to Council to implement the Community Strategic Plan. This includes the:
 - Asset Management Strategy and Asset Management Plans.
 - Long-Term Financial Plan
 - Workforce Management Plan
- Annual Report - Reports to the community on how Council has met its strategic objectives set out in the Annual Operational Plan.

Integrated Planning and Reporting Framework

Legislative Requirements

The Local Government Act 1993 (NSW) and the Local Government (General) Regulations 2021 (NSW) outline the requirements for all NSW councils Integrated Planning and Reporting Framework (IPR Framework). Narrabri Shire Council's adopted IPR Framework includes a suite of integrated plans that set out a vision and goals, and strategic actions to achieve them. It involves a reporting structure to communicate progress to council and the community as well as a structured timeline for review to ensure the goals and actions are still relevant. The IPR Framework's primary suite of documents consists of the Community Strategic Plan, the Resourcing Strategy, the Delivery Program and the Operational Plan.

Pursuant to section 402A of the Local Government Act 1993 (NSW) each Council must develop a Community Engagement Strategy for engagement with the local community when developing its plans, policies and programs and for the purpose of determining its activities (other than routine administrative matters).

Council must establish and implement its Community Engagement Strategy, based on social justice principles, for engagement with the local community when developing the Community Strategic Plan. A Council may endorse the existing plan, endorse amendments to the existing plan or develop and endorse a new Community Engagement Strategy.

A draft Community Engagement Strategy or amendment of an existing Community Engagement Strategy must be placed on public exhibition for a period of at least 28 days, and submissions received must be considered by the council before the plan or amendment is endorsed by the council.

Legislated Principles

The guiding principles for NSW councils are established in Chapter 3 of the Local Government Act 1993 (NSW) and are aimed at enabling councils to carry out their functions in a way that facilitates strong, healthy, and prosperous local communities. These principles guide councils to:

- provide strong and effective representation, leadership, planning and decision-making;
- carry out functions in a way that provides the best possible value for residents and ratepayers;
- plan strategically, using the integrated planning and reporting framework, for the provision of effective and efficient services and regulation to meet the diverse needs of the local community;
- apply the integrated planning and reporting framework in carrying out their functions so as to achieve desired outcomes and continuous improvements;
- work co-operatively with other councils and the State government to achieve desired outcomes for the local community;
- manage lands and other assets so that current and future local community needs can be met in an affordable way;
- work with others to secure appropriate services for local community needs;
- act fairly, ethically and without bias in the interests of the local community; and
- be responsible employers and provide a consultative and supportive working environment for staff.

Additional legislated principles are outlined in Chapter 3 of the Local Government Act 1993 (NSW) to ensure councils exercise sound decision making and financial management.

Pursuant to section 8C of the Local Government Act 1993 (NSW), Council's IPR Framework should:

- identify and prioritise key local community needs and aspirations and consider regional priorities;
- identify strategic goals to meet those needs and aspirations;
- develop activities, and prioritise actions, to work towards the strategic goals;
- ensure that the strategic goals and activities to work towards them may be achieved within council resources;
- regularly review and evaluate progress towards achieving strategic goals;
- maintain an integrated approach to planning, delivering, monitoring and reporting on strategic goals;
- collaborate with others to maximise achievement of strategic goals;
- manage risks to the local community or area or to the council effectively and proactively; and
- make appropriate evidence-based adaptations to meet changing needs and circumstances.

The IPR cycle coincides with NSW local government's election terms (four years terms)¹, with reviews commencing at the end of a council term. The review process consists of:

- A State of the Shire Report from the outgoing council to the incoming on the implementation and effectiveness of the Delivery Program in achieving the objectives outlined in the Community Strategic Plan.
- A review of the information that informed the original Community Strategic Plan.
- A Community Engagement Strategy prepared and implemented by Council, identifying relevant stakeholder groups within the community and outline the methods that will be used to engage each group.

¹ In 2020, due to the extenuating circumstances caused by the COVID-19 Pandemic, the NSW Government postponed local government elections by 15 months to December 2021. This extended the current council term and IPR cycle to five years (2016 to 2021) and shortened the next council term and IPR cycle to three years (2021 to 2024). The standard four-year council term and IPR cycle has resumed from September 2024.

The Community Engagement Process

The International Association for Public Participation (IAP2) defines Community Engagement as:

“Any process that involves the community in problem-solving or decision-making and uses community input to make better decisions.”

Narrabri Shire Council recognises the importance and benefits of involving the community in decision-making processes. This is especially important when developing a long-term strategic vision for the community. The success of the Community Strategic Plan and subsequent plans and strategies relies on the community feeling they have ownership and influence over how their Shire is shaped in the future.

The level of participation from the community in decision-making should be proportionate to the impact of the decision being made. Therefore, higher-level long-term decisions that will have a larger impact on the community should have a higher degree of community participation in their development.

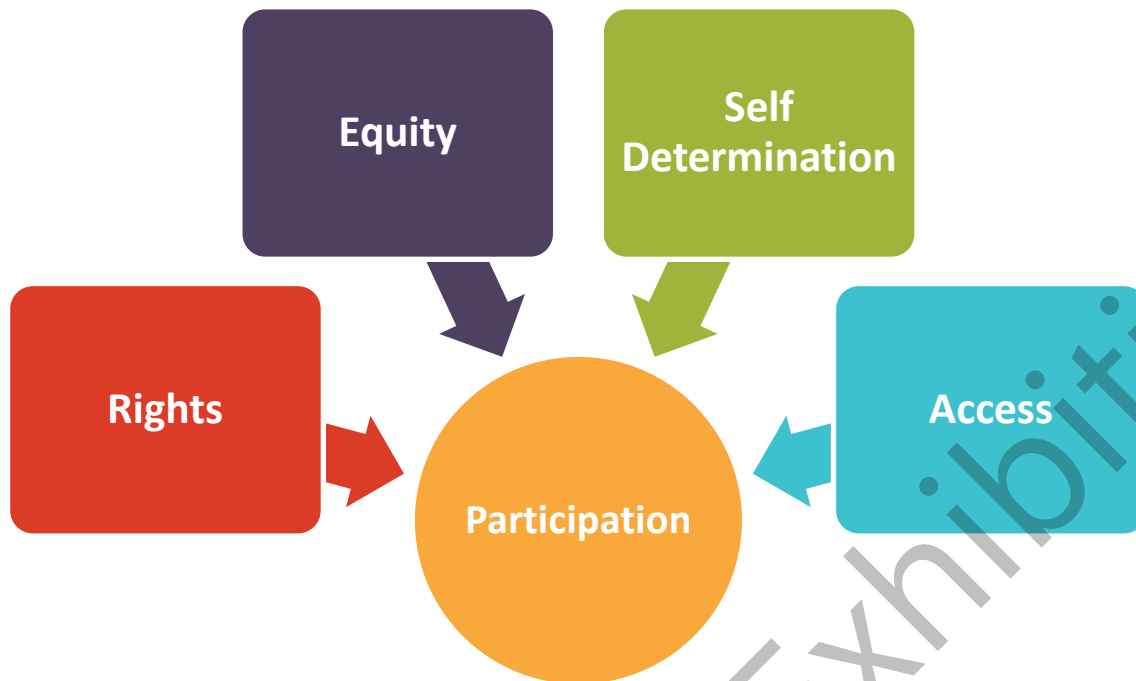

Community engagement will focus on “bigger picture” items for the Shire and not the day-to-day operations of Council. As a minimum, Council will identify and engage with relevant stakeholder groups. For increased success, Council will engage with those community members who may not normally have a voice. Using social justice principles, Council will target those groups which are harder to reach and endeavor to keep them informed throughout the process. It is important to accept and respect that some community members will have no interest in taking part in this process. However, Council will ensure that if they wish to become involved, they can get involved.

Objectives of Community Engagement

Council has some clear objectives to be undertaken through its community engagement activities as well as fulfilling its legislative requirements. These include:

- Engage the community in shaping our future – Work together to review and create a 10-year plan that reflects the needs, aspirations, and service expectations of our community.
- Empower the community through education – Help the community understand how the Integrated Planning and Reporting Framework works and how they can actively contribute to its success.
- Ensure inclusive and meaningful engagement – Provide a well-coordinated approach to engagement that welcomes all voices, ensuring every stakeholder is heard and valued.
- Strengthen ongoing relationships – Foster strong, lasting partnerships between Council and the community for a thriving future.

Social Justice Framework

Successful community engagement offers members of the community an opportunity to have their values, interests, needs, and desires incorporated into decisions that affect their lives. It also encourages the public to provide more meaningful input into the decision-making process.

Through its community engagement, Council will strive to implement best practice guidelines developed by IAP2 to ensure engagement is genuine and inclusive.

IAP2's core values for public participation:

- Are based on the belief that those who are affected by a decision have the right to be involved in the decision-making process;
- Include the promise that the public's contribution will influence the decision;
- Seeks out and facilitates the involvement of those potentially affected by or interest in a decision;
- Provides participants with the information they need to participate in a meaningful way; and,
- Communicates how their input affected the decision made.

The framework is not intended to prescribe exactly how a community should be engaged with. Rather it provides an outline for the community engagement process to assist organisations, such as Council, to plan and conduct effective engagement initiatives.

Step 1: Determine the Level of Impact

The first step in Council’s community engagement process is to determine the level of community input that is required based on the level of impact that the issue, plan or project has. Council’s staff have the capacity to judge the level of impact and therefore determine the appropriate level of community engagement and participation.

The following table outlines the four (4) levels of impact that any issues, plans or projects, that Council is involved, are likely to fall into:

	Shire-Wide	Local
High	Level 1 High, Shire-Wide Impact High level of real or perceived impact or risk across the Narrabri Shire. This may include any impact on health, safety, or wellbeing of residents. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Council’s Community Strategic Plan. • Removal of a facility or service that caters for the whole Shire. 	Level 2 High, Local Impact High level of real or perceived impact or risk on a local area, small community or user group(s) of a specific facility or service. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Facilities Management Plan. • Re-development of a sports ground. • Local street closure.
Low	Level 3 Low, Shire-Wide Impact Lower level of real or perceived impact or risk across the Narrabri Shire. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Changes to Council’s Customer Service processes. • Satisfaction Survey. 	Level 4 Low, Local Impact Lower level of real or perceived impact or risk on a local area, small community or user group(s) of a specific facility or service. Example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Local street upgrade. • Playground or park upgrade. • Changes to a local program or event (such as time or location).

Step 2: Determine the Level of Engagement

Council will work with the IAP2 Public Participation Spectrum (located on the next page) to identify the possible methods of consultation and the level of impact the community would have on decision-making. Types of engagement include: Inform, Consult, Involve, Collaborate and Empower. At a minimum, it is anticipated that all of Council's engagement initiatives will need to inform, however Councils have been advised that they should aim their engagement activities to the COLLABORATE level for the greatest success.

COLLABORATE will be the most significant part of any engagement. It involves working with key stakeholders and the community to find solutions and alternatives. This stage comes after all the information is sought through the CONSULT and INVOLVE stages to ensure issues are well understood. This spectrum will be used as the basis of all Council Community Engagement activities as well as Council's Communications Strategy.

Note: It is important that Council use the IAP2 Public Participation Spectrum in conjunction with Appendix 1: Engagement Method Matrix.

Public Exhibition Process

Throughout various engagement activities, documents are often required to be placed on Public Exhibition for the community to provide feedback to Council. Councils put documents on public exhibition to ensure transparency, promote community engagement, and gather input from residents, stakeholders, and other interested parties. This process is a key part of democratic governance, where councils seek to involve the community in decision-making, especially on matters that may impact them directly.

1. Transparency: Public exhibition allows councils to demonstrate that decisions and policies are being made openly and that the community has an opportunity to review and comment on proposed plans or changes.
2. Community Input: Councils aim to gather feedback from residents to better understand the needs, concerns, and preferences of the community. This feedback helps ensure that decisions reflect the views and interests of those who will be affected by them.
3. Stakeholder Engagement: Councils seek input from specific stakeholders, such as local businesses, community groups, or government agencies, who may have a direct interest or expertise in the matters being considered. This ensures that a broad range of perspectives is taken into account.
4. Improving Decisions: By putting documents on public exhibition, councils are able to identify potential issues, refine proposals, and improve plans based on the feedback received. This can lead to more informed and balanced decisions.

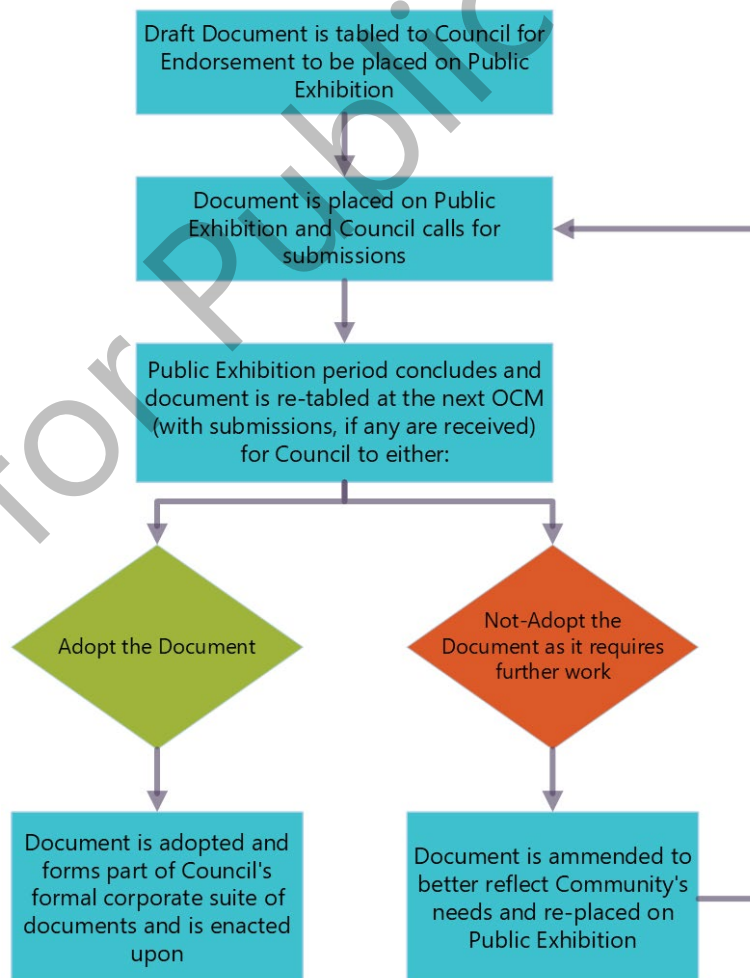

Types of Feedback Sought

The type of feedback councils seek depends on the nature of the document but generally includes:

- Support or Opposition: Whether the community or stakeholders support or oppose the proposals.
- Suggestions for Improvement: Specific suggestions or recommendations on how to improve the plan or policy.
- Identification of Impacts: Feedback on how the proposed changes or policies may impact different groups or areas of the community.
- Legal or Compliance Concerns: Comments on whether the proposals comply with existing laws, regulations, or policies.
- Practical Considerations: Input on the feasibility, implementation, and practicality of proposed actions.

Public exhibition is usually conducted for documents like development plans, budgets, strategic policies, local environmental plans, and other major council initiatives.

Just because something is placed on public exhibition does not mean the document is final and the decision has been made. If community feedback is received seeking amendments to a document, so long as these are viable in accordance with legislation, budgetary constraints and Council policies, accommodations are often made.

General Information - Our Community

To communicate effectively Council must understand its community. The Australian Bureau of Statistics estimated the Narrabri Shire population to be 12,703 as of 2021, with a median age of 40.² 50.4% of the population identified as male and 49.6% identified as female. 14.8% of the population identified as being of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent.

Growth Rate

It has been identified by the NSW Government Department of Planning and Environment (then known as the Department of Planning, Industry and Environment) that the Shire's population will experience a decline, on current trends, with the total population projected to be 12,102 in 2041.⁵ This decline is predicted to be caused by residents leaving the area for larger centres, and due to an already ageing population. However, it is important to note that these projections do not take into consideration future growth and employment opportunities which may significantly change in and out migration rates.

Employment

The Narrabri economy supports an estimated 6,949 jobs, representing 8.6% of the 81,136 people working in Northern Inland region, and 0.2% of the 3,672,240 people working in New South Wales. In Narrabri, the centre of the region contains the highest number of jobs.⁶ At the 2021 Census, the main industry of employment in the Shire was Mining, employing 21.6% of the working population.

Employment

Of the estimated 6,949 people working in the Shire, 39.1% have obtained employment without the attainment of a tertiary qualification.⁷

Economic Activities⁸

The Narrabri Shire's Gross Regional Product (GRP) is estimated at $3.554 billion. The Narrabri Shire represents 19.5% of Northern Inland region's GRP of $18.262 billion, and 0.5% of New South Wales' Gross State Product (GSP) of $777.299 billion.⁹ The Narrabri Shire economy generates an estimated $5.671 billion in output. Narrabri Shire represents 16.6% of the $34.256 billion output generated in Northern Inland region, and 0.4% of the $1.561 trillion output generated in New South Wales. The largest contributor to annual economic output in Narrabri is Mining, which represents 62.3% of total output. The area in the Narrabri Shire generating the most output is the Boggabri area producing $2.5 billion in annual output. The total value added by the Narrabri Shire is estimated at $3.477 billion. The Narrabri Shire represents 20.3% of the $17.115 billion value added in Northern Inland region, and 0.5% of the $726.939 billion value added in New South Wales. At an estimated $2.473 billion, the Mining sector is the largest value added contributor to Narrabri Shire's economy.

and a large cotton seed distributor.¹⁰ Grain and pulse production is concentrated to the north and west of Narrabri. Narrabri Shire has three agricultural research facilities: the Australian Cotton Research Institute; Monsanto Narrabri Research Centre; and the University of Sydney's IA Watson Grains Research Centre. The Shire is also the home of the Paul Wild Observatory, which houses the Australia Telescope Compact Array. The Observatory is operated by the CSIRO Astronomy and Space Science Division.

The Shire sits partly atop the Gunnedah Basin and sections of the Great Artesian Basin, (specifically the Southern Recharge and Surat groundwater sources). Due to this placement, Narrabri Shire is resource rich, with access to extensive irrigation, and coal and gas reserves. There are four coal mines in the Shire with a fifth proposed at Vickery just south of Boggabri. The Pilliga Forest in the South West of the Shire has extensive gas reserves.

The Shire has a strong and growing tourism sector. In Narrabri, tourism supports an estimated 276 jobs, which is 4% of total employment. The largest sub-sector in Narrabri is Accommodation & Food Services with 182 jobs supported by tourists expenditure. The Shire's main tourist attractions are the Mount Kaputar National Park, the Pilliga Forest, the Pilliga Hot Artesian Baths and CSIRO Australia Telescope Compact Array.

Under-Represented Groups

Due to the broad spread of the Shire's population, with over 5,400 residents estimated to be living in a town or village external to the strategic centre of Narrabri, Council needs to ensure its communications reach the targeted audience in a timely manner.

Residents' ability to receive communications in a meaningful relies on several factors, including, access to internet, literacy and comprehension rates, and appetite for seeking out local news. Whilst Council cannot change residents' own desires to seek out local news and notices, it can work to ensure that its engagement accommodates for the 27.5% of the population who does not have access to the internet from their home¹¹ and the 3.6% of the population who speaks a language other than English at home.¹² Through appropriate application of the Methods of Engagement Matrix, Council can also increase the likelihood of 'disinterested' residents being exposed to calls for engagement, to increase participation.

There are several groups in the community that are difficult to reach and engage in consultation. When engaging with under-represented groups, it is important to cater for their needs, by meeting in comfortable and accessible locations at times that suite them. These groups have an important voice in the future of the Shire. Groups which need to be carefully targeted include:

People with Disabilities

- Council currently has in place the 2022/2026 Disability Inclusion Action Plan \(DIAP\).
- Council currently facilitates the Access and Inclusion Committee to obtain valuable expertise and advice on matters relating to access, inclusion, and the implementation of the Disability Inclusion Action Plan.
- It is important people with disabilities are considered in town planning and facility upgrades to improve accessibility.

Aboriginal Community

- Council has made a commitment through its Reconciliation Action Plan to raise awareness and understanding of the local Aboriginal culture. Council is anticipated to have an updated Reconciliation Action Plan adopted by 30 June 2024.
- The Narrabri Shire Local Government Area sits within the traditional lands of the Gamilaraay people. As the original custodians of this area, the local Aboriginal community's cultural values need to be considered when deciding the future direction of the Shire.
- Elders can be empowered to be advocates for their community and communicate their current and future needs to Council.

11 Australian Bureau of Statistics Narrabri Shire (A), 2016 Census

12 Australian Bureau of Statistics Narrabri Shire (A), 2021 Census

- It is considered best practice to deliver an Acknowledgement of Country as part of a welcome and housekeeping at meetings or events, including consultation sessions.¹³
- It is important to refer to cultural groups carefully and respectfully by their preferred title; be mindful to only refer to Aboriginal people as 'Aboriginal' or 'First Nations'. 'Indigenous', 'Aborigine' or other terminology is highly offensive.
- If you are not a local Aboriginal person, it can be considered disrespectful to refer to an Aboriginal person as 'Auntie', 'Uncle', 'Sister' or 'Brother' unless they have asked you to do so. As a non-Aboriginal person, pay attention to how an Aboriginal person refers to themselves; they may prefer another term, such as their Tribe.

People from Culturally Diverse Backgrounds

- Whilst only 4.4% of the Shire's population were born overseas, such residents need to be encouraged and welcomed to participate in engagement.¹⁴
- It is important to understand which culturally diverse backgrounds the Shire's community is made up of to better cater for these residents' and their families' needs now and in the future.
- When engaging with people of culturally diverse backgrounds it is important to ensure that you use and pronounce names and culturally specific terminology properly. If you are unsure of the correct pronunciation, ask. It is more acceptable to ask and ensure you are pronouncing names and terminology properly than to pronounce these incorrectly.

Young People

- Young people can be difficult to engage due to feelings of disinterest and lack of "power" in society.
- As the future of the Shire, local youth need to be empowered to share their opinions and actively participate in community consultation.
- Innovative methods should be considered to better engage with this group.
- The Narrabri Shire Youth Council will provide opportunities for our young people to influence youth focused programs and projects within the shire. This group will be key in engaging with Council and delivering 13 Only recognised Elders who are Traditional Owners/Custodians of the land on which the event takes place can deliver a Welcome to Country.

14 Narrabri (A) REMPLAN.

LGBTQIA+

- The LGBTQIA+ community includes anyone who does not identify as a heterosexual or does not identify with the gender they were born with, or a combination of both. Significantly so in rural and regional communities, such as the Narrabri Shire, the LGBTQIA+ community is often underrepresented or may not feel safe or comfortable openly engaging with organisations such as Council.
- LGBTQIA+ people have a diverse range of interests and requirements. Engaging directly with LGBTQIA+ service users is the most effective way for public services to understand what those interests and requirements are.
- It is important to be mindful when engaging any community members to be mindful and respectful of pronouns. Be aware of how a person refers to themselves and reciprocate this. It is important that if a community member states they use 'she/her', 'he/him', 'they/them' pronouns that you try to do.

Geographically isolated

- Extending across 13,031 square kilometres, the Shire is very large and home to isolated communities such as Gwabegar and Pilliga.
- Council should have an active presence in these communities and develop more informal ways of promoting community engagement within these communities.

Transient Workers

- Although many transient workers do not call the Shire "home", they still have a large impact on the community and its infrastructure.
- Working closely with the primary employer of transient workers, being corporations within the resource sector, will help to capture this group.

Young Working Families

- Due to busy and conflicting schedules, this group are not often able to engage in community consultation despite being key users of the Shire's facilities (such as sports grounds, entertainment facilities, parks and pools).
- Engagement with this group needs to be scheduled appropriately and, in a time sensitive manner.
- Options for this community group to participate in engagement from home should be considered.

65+ Population

- The Shire has an ageing population, with 18.6% of the Shire's population aged 65 years and over.
- Council should work closely with this community, along side existing service providers for this group to ensure they are meaningfully engaged with.
- Council should ensure they consider this groups accessibility and scheduling requirements when engaging.

Primary Producers

- This group are a difficult to group to engage with due to isolated locations and busy seasonal schedules.
- Engagement needs to be informal and made easy for them to get involved.
- Engagement with this group needs to be carefully timed, not to conflict with busier periods (as highlighted below)¹⁵:

Industry	Jul	Aug	Sep	Oct	Nov	Dec	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	Jun
Cotton - Planting			X	X

¹⁵ Periods are subject to change (due to climate, market and resourcing factors).

Reaching the Aboriginal Community

The local Aboriginal community is identified as a key community group that can be difficult to engage with due to a nature of distrust that has developed towards government service providers.¹⁶ In 2016, Council made a commitment to strengthen relationships with the local Aboriginal community through the development of a Reconciliation Action Plan. When engaging with the local Aboriginal community, to ensure engagement occurs in a meaningful manner, Council needs to be aware and respectful of Aboriginal culture

Standard Acknowledgement of Country

I would like to acknowledge that we meet today on the traditional lands of the Kamilaroi/ Gamilaroi/ Gomeroi people. I recognise their continuing connection to this land and pay my respects to Elders past and present and I extend that respect to any Aboriginal people present here today.

Respecting the Aboriginal Culture

The Aboriginal culture is one of the world's oldest living cultures, dating back more than 60,000 years. Due to this longevity and interconnectedness with Country, the Aboriginal community have a wealth of knowledge available. Aboriginal culture enriches Australia's society and provides solutions for many modern-day issues, including best practice for land and water management to prevent catastrophic bushfire seasons.

Terminology

- Connection to Country:
 - "Country" is more than just the land on which we live or the socio-political and economic boundaries that define a territorial body of land.
 - "Country" describes the interdependent and interconnected relationship between Aboriginal people, land, water, spirituality, and cultural law.
- The importance of kinship:
 - Culture, family and kinship ties are fundamental to Aboriginal communities.
 - The responsibility of raising children is often shared between the whole community.

¹⁶ Distrust between Australia's Aboriginal population and the "government" developed from a long and complicated history, that has resulted in systemic issues. Some reasons for this mistrust stem from European colonisation and the subsequent forced removal of Aboriginal children from their families and communities resulting in the Stolen Generation (which was an official government policy in Australia until 1969). Additional underlying social issues faced by Aboriginal families that further perpetuate this mistrust are the current power imbalances, lack of representation in decision making, and lack of representation in influential positions of power.

- Extended family is part of Aboriginal people's social unit, with many, older members of a community, being respectfully and affectionately referred to as "aunty" or "uncle" despite not being a blood relative.
- Deep Time:
 - Aboriginal peoples' concept of time is not exclusively linear (that is past-present-future).
 - Events that bear more weight or importance to an Aboriginal person or their community are perceived as being closer in time.
 - This is especially important to recognise as events that bear more importance due to their traumatic implications, such as colonisation and the Stolen Generation, plague the forefront of Aboriginal communities' recollection.
- Elder:
 - Elders are the custodians of traditional cultural knowledge, skills and customs and are responsible for teaching and providing guidance to the community on cultural matters and cultural protocols.
 - The term "Elder" is used to describe people who have knowledge, wisdom, and the respect of their local community.
 - Elders are not necessarily older people but must have the trust and respect of their community and be recognised as cultural knowledge keepers
- Language:
 - A critical factor in communicating is understanding the differences in language protocols. In Australia there are more than 250 First Nation languages including 800 dialects. Each language is specific to a particular place and people.
 - For some in Aboriginal communities, English may be a second or third language.
 - English literacy levels need to be considered and accommodated, by using clear and concise wording.
 - Alike any other inter-cultural communications, maintain your own language – do not try to mimic Aboriginal speech, words, or accent.
- Mob:
 - term used to identify a group of Aboriginal people associated with a particular place or country.
 - This term is generally used by Aboriginal people to describe other Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and should not be used by non-Aboriginal people.
- Nation:
 - Nation: A group associated with a culturally defined area of land or country.
 - Each nation has boundaries that cannot be changed and language that is tied to each nation and country.
 - It is important to understand that for some nations there is still dispute today over these traditional boundaries.
- Sorry Business:
 - Sorry Business is an important period of mourning for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples that involves responsibilities and obligations to attend funerals and participate in other cultural events, activities, or ceremonies.
 - In some cases, the extent of obligations is dictated by the status of the deceased person and a person's relationship to them.
 - Mourning periods differ between communities; sometimes the person's name or image cannot be used for a week or a year, sometimes it is for an indefinite period.
- Stolen Generation:

- The Stolen Generation refers to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children who were removed from their communities and families by Australian Federal and State Government agencies from 1910 to the 1970s.
- It is estimated that the Stolen Generation affected 1 in 3 children during this time.
- These children were then sent away to be placed in homes, missions, and foster families where they were often forbidden from speaking their native language or expressing any part of their Aboriginal or Torres Strait Island culture. They were also not allowed to return to their traditional lands.
- Many Aboriginal families have experienced inter-generational trauma, due to the trauma experienced by their parents or grandparents who lived through this period of history. The Stolen Generation has resulted in traditional knowledge being lost as this knowledge was not able to be passed down to the next generation
- Traditional Owners:
 - It is considered best practice to deliver an Acknowledgement of Country as part of a welcome and housekeeping at meetings or events, including consultation or engagement sessions.¹⁷

Protocols

General Protocols for ALL Engagement Activities:

- Traditional Owners and Elders (past present and future) should be acknowledged at the commencement of a meeting (see page 29 for a standard Acknowledgement of Country for all Council meetings and engagement activities conducted on Gamilaraay Country);
- Acknowledgements should also recognise dates of significant (if there is a close correlation) and cultural or historical sites (if the event is held on or near one).
- Minimise government jargon or explain the term or phrase in plain language.
- Use your own style of speech – do not try to mimic Aboriginal speech, words or accents.
- Be inclusive of all participants, and provide opportunities for all to speak;
- Only refer to Aboriginal people as 'Aboriginal' or 'First Nations'. 'Indigenous', 'Aborigine' or other terminology is highly offensive. If you are a non-Aboriginal person, pay attention to how an Aboriginal person refers to themselves; they may prefer another term, such as their Tribe or Nation.
- Avoid referring to Elders as 'Auntie' or 'Uncle', unless invited to do so (if you need to introduce an Aboriginal Elder or a member of the Aboriginal community, ask them how they would like to be referred to first);
- Do not specify tribal groups as there may be more than one group present; and

Formal Event Protocols:

- Welcome to Country:

¹⁷ Only recognised Elders who are Traditional Owners/Custodians of the land on which the event takes place can deliver a Welcome to Country.

- Where the traditional Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander custodians welcome people to their land. This is the preferred option to open a ceremony and should be conducted by a recognised Traditional Owner or Elder from the area.
- A Welcome to Country can only be delivered by a Traditional Owner or an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who have been given permission from Traditional Owners to welcome visitors to their country.
- If requesting an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person to perform a Welcome to Country, it is considered best practice to compensate them for their time (in the form of payment).
- Acknowledgement of Country:
 - Where an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander person or non-Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander person acknowledges and shows respect for the Traditional Owners of the land.
 - Acknowledgements should also recognise dates of significant (if there is a close correlation) and cultural or historical sites (if the event is held on or near one). Elders should be consulted on how to approach this Acknowledgement. Event organisers should research the cultural heritage of the land the event is held on and address this in the Acknowledgement.
- Smoking Ceremonies:
 - Smoking ceremonies are undertaken in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities to cleanse the space in which the ceremony is taking place.
 - The smoking ceremony is a ritual of purification and unity and is always undertaken by a Traditional Owner or Elder with specialised cultural knowledge.
 - This is a significant ceremony and is performed only at events deemed appropriate by the Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander community.
 - If invited to participate in a Smoking Ceremony, it is important to pay close attention to the process and participate respectfully.

Written Material Protocols:

- Ensure the following proper nouns are capitalised:
 - Aboriginal;
 - Country;
 - Elder;
 - First Australians;
 - First Nations;
 - First Peoples;
 - Indigenous;
 - Language;
 - Torres Strait Islander; and
 - Any reference to a Tribe or Nation (for example “Gamilaraay People”).
- Consultation and consent:
 - If using cultural material in documents that are intended to be disseminated to the community, it is important to consult with the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander custodians of traditional knowledge to understand the risks and benefits and ensure accuracy, as certain information or images may be inappropriate for wider circulation.
 - Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples have the right to keep secret any sacred or ritual knowledge.

- Do not use acronyms (such as 'ATSI' or 'TSI') when referring to First Nations People. Using an acronym or abbreviation to describe a race of people can be offensive and inappropriate. Use 'Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander' or 'First Nations People'.
- Capturing and using visual and/or audio material:
 - Ensure that photographers and videographers are briefed on cultural protocols and are respectful to the participants.
 - They must seek permission from the Traditional Owners, Elders and/or community before taking photos or videos.
 - Ensure a photography and videography consent form has been completed.
 - Before using the name of a deceased person or publishing their image, it is essential to obtain the family's permission and it is important to include a warning before showing photos, images or videos that may contain a person or persons who are deceased.

Appendix 1: Engagement Method Matrix (Framework)

The following matrix can be used as a guide to provide engagement methods and tools that are appropriate for the level of impact of the decision. To ensure that the Shire’s community engagement activities evolve to meet the changing needs of the community Council will continually review and update the methods of engagement. Council will also attempt to facilitate, where possible, engagement activities to ensure convenience and accessibility whilst reducing duplication of activities.

Special Considerations for In Person Engagement Sessions:

- If using specialised equipment, online platforms or software, always test these systems thoroughly before utilising it publicly.
- Seek community feedback about the engagement method immediately after an engagement session has concluded.
- If catering an engagement session, ensure there is a variety of tea, coffee and food available that caters for those with dietary requirements (such as having gluten free bread and biscuits, soy milk and vegan options).
- Introduce all staff and officials present and ensure all have name tags and Council business cards.
- If the Mayor is attending in their official capacity ensure both the Mayor and Deputy Mayor (as a contingency) are briefed prior to the event.
- If any media outlets are in attendance to cover the story, ensure all in attendance are offered refreshments (bottle water).
- Seating arrangements can be as follows:

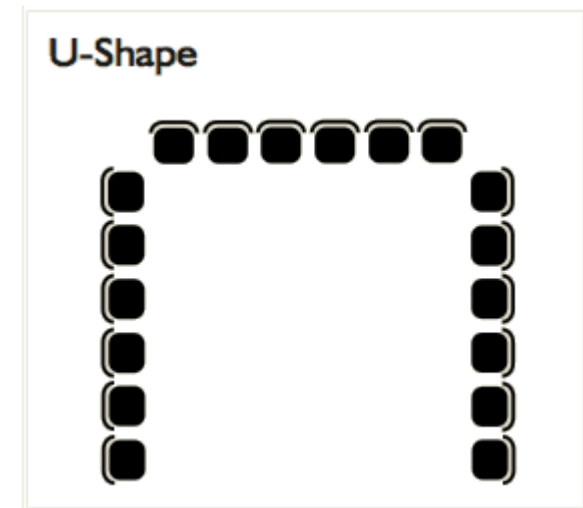

Seating Plan A: Collaborative

Seating Plan B: One-on-One Consultation

Seating Plan C: Information Only

Appendix 3: Engagement Strategy for the Community Strategic Plan

Through the Community Engagement Strategy for the Narrabri Shire Community Strategic Plan (the CSP), Council is committed to being innovative with its engagement and providing the community fun, alternative methods of getting involved. Particular attention will be made to involve the under-represented groups.

Branding

A special brand was developed by staff to be used throughout the community engagement for the CSP. This branding will help residents and stakeholders recognise the range of engagement activities available and encourage their involvement. The branding is simple and projects the message that Council is seeking input on the “big picture” items. It encourages residents to think about where they see the Shire in the long-term. The range of engagement activities will provide residents with a chance to use their “voice” in a range of different ways and shows that an individual idea can shape the future of Narrabri Shire.

Phase 1: – Education and Gauge Interest

In this phase is Council staff will review the 2022/2036 Narrabri Shire Community Strategic Plan, noting what Council and the Shire’s community have achieved and what still needs to be done.¹⁸ Council will primarily engage at the INFORM level to re-educate the community on the purpose of the CSP and the engagement process. Simple branding has been developed so the community can easily identify how they can get involved and what the engagement is being used for.

Phase 2: Starting the Conversation

In this phase, Council will start to actively engage the community at the CONSULT and INVOLVE level. Priorities of the community will be discussed and community opinion gauged. The key will be to involve as many people as possible, especially those apart of under-represented groups, in a range of ways to capture the community's thoughts and ideas.

Engagement Activity	Description	Target Groups to be engaged	Engagement Level
